RESEARCH PROJECTS

- 1980-83 The nature and sources of intra-industry trade: the UK post-war experience, at University College of Buckingham. A three-year project supported by the SSRC, (with D. Greenaway), investigating the causes and consequences of two-way international trade. This led to a number of publications e.g. Blackwells (1986), Economic Journal (1983), European Economic Review (1986), Weltwirtschaftliches Archiv (1981), Applied Economics (1988) and contributions to books and domestic and international conferences.
- 1987-1990 Instruments of industrial and trade policy evaluation in the context of developing countries. The work was supported by the Wincott Foundation and Maxwell Stamp Associates, London. The work involved a study visit to the World Bank during Easter, 1988. The study sought to synthesise the accumulated case study analysis undertaken in Africa (including by myself). Complementary publications in this area include Journal of Development Studies (1987), Journal of Economic Studies (1987), and Weltwirtschaftliches Archiv (1990).
- 1988-90 Fiscal implications of trade policy reform in developing countries. Reform of border taxation for efficiency reasons may be constrained by budgetary considerations, where fiscal-dependence on trade taxes is high. The work, sponsored by the World Bank, was concerned with identifying fiscal effects of alternative types of reforms, with a view to providing guidance on the design of future reform programmes. Reports were submitted to the World Bank, a paper was presented at the IESG conference (1989) and a paper published in the Journal of Development Studies.
- 1992-6 Specialisation trends in the EC. [Responsible for UK component of SPES-funded multi-centre study co-ordinated by CREDIT, University of Nottingham.] The study is concerned with the impact of vertical product differentiation on intra-industry specialisation and adjustment within the EC. Researchers from each EC member states and from Sweden are involved in the project.
- 1993-4 Fiscal consequences of trade policy reform: a CGE modelling approach for Mauritius. The work is supported by a grant from the Nuffield Foundation. The work is ongoing and will involve the construction of a CGE model for Mauritius, and the use of various policy experiments to investigate the positive and normative implications of trade policy reforms.
- 1994-5 Tariff equivalents to non-tariff barriers. The work is supported by a grant of £26,450 from the Treasury, and involves a team of researchers from the department. The aim is to measure the protective effects and costs of some of the most important NTBs used in the UK.

- 1994-6 Export Promotion in Manufactures. The study is part of a larger research programme funded by the Ford Foundation ($220,000), and involves collaborations across the department. The work will be concerned with the nature and effectiveness of alternative export promotion policies in the post-Uruguay Round era.
- 1996-99 Responding to the Change in the Environment for Trade and Enterprise. This is a collaborative research programme with CSAE (Oxford), CMBOR (Nottingham) and CREDIT (Nottingham) funded by the ODA (£480,000), headed by Dr. O. Morrissey (CREDIT). Involved in the project concerned with infrastructural and institutional constraints to export promotion.
- 1996-99 Employment and Labour Market Adjustment. This is a collaborative research programme involving CSAE (Oxford) and DERC (Warwick) funded by the ODA. My own project within the programme involves a study of labour markets and structural adjustment in Mauritius (project funds (£60,000), collaborating with P. Wright).
- 1998-2003 Globalisation and Labour Markets. A large scale programme of research funded by the Leverhulme Trust and involving a team of researchers concerned with the UK labour market effects of trade and foreign direct investment.
- 2002-2004 Trade and Transport Costs: How EU Aid Can Promote Export Growth in East Africa. A multi-country study funded by DFID (EP/R01/001 Euro 160,600). The project is jointly organised with W.O. Morrissey.
