Depending on your course combination and available modules, you may not be eligible to study at ALL of the listed universities. It is essential that all candidates check with the University-wide academic adviser Dr Miranda regarding the suitability of their shortlisted university/ies before making a formal application. Students of International Media & Communication Studies may not be able to access the appropriate language level at all universities listed above. It is imperative that students research available & credited language modules prior to embarking on the exchange.

Applicants who have not been in touch with Dr Miranda by Friday 8 December 2017 may not be considered.

Joint honours programmes with languages

Students taking joint honours BA International Media and Communications or BA Film and Television Studies with languages spend their third-year abroad in the country of their chosen language of study. These placements are organised by the individual language departments.

The options for your year abroad currently include studying at a university through the Erasmus programme, working as a British Council language assistant or undertaking a work placement through the Erasmus programme. Now that the UK Government has invoked Article 50 of the Lisbon Treaty to begin the process of leaving the EU, a two-year period of negotiation has begun, during which the UK will still maintain all aspects of its current EU Membership. Even after that period, the Year Abroad will continue, and students at Nottingham will continue to have a range of options for their Year Abroad.
