TTRI is proud to announce a high level tourism research seminar series for 2008/2009.

We have a strong programme of academic and business leaders in tourism who will present contemporary issues and challenges in the tourism field and lead the seminar discussion.

In addition we will be offering a networking buffet following each seminar when there will be a chance to meet fellow academics, practitioners and policy makers in the tourism field.

We would be delighted if you can attend and look forward to welcoming you to TTRI and Nottingham University Business School.

Further details will follow shortly.
