

In2Rail: Asset Management Modelling Framework

Background

There are many different approaches for asset management modelling to support the decision making. Railways are a diverse and complex integration of systems and infrastructure and a formalism of the modelling is required.

Objective

To specify a modelling and data flow structure to support asset management modelling for railways.