Volunteering opportunity
Following on from the ‘Digital Capabilities’ survey in November 2018, asking graduates from 2014 – 2017 what skills they felt they required when they entered the graduate jobs market, we are looking for enthusiastic alumni to provide guidance and advice for upcoming curriculum development and education enhancement projects. We’d love for recent graduates to share and help develop projects with us.

We will also be asking volunteers if they can share some personal stories building on the survey responses they have given – this may be through video content or interviews.

This group of volunteers will be a virtual advisory group who may be requested for advice from the project lead on an ad hoc basis across the next 2 years.

Who will suit this opportunity?
We are looking for recent alumni who feel they would like to help shape upcoming curriculum development and education enhancement projects.

When does the opportunity take place?
Date: From 1 January 2019 onwards for a maximum of 2 years
Time: Ad hoc – usually advice over email. Skype or phone dependant on the project

Who will benefit from your contribution?
Current students

Recruitment process
Please fill out a short application form – you will then be sent further information about the project and how you might like to be involved.
