How will you spend your time?
We would like to invite engaging alumni who have progressed onto successful careers or have an inspirational story to speak at alumni events at The University of Nottingham. Such events will centre on our campaign aims (to find out more click here), with a particular focus upon fantastic career stories.

The University of Nottingham has an outstanding alumni body, many of whom have gone on to great careers in their chosen field. Stories of life after university and how alumni have progressed into their field are incredibly inspiring to current students and fellow alumni, helping them to realise their full potential.

All about you
We welcome International Alumni speakers of any age and background. This role is suitable for anyone with a great professional story which can motivate and inspire our students and alumni community. This would be a fantastic opportunity to improve your public speaking skills. We are happy to provide training and guidance to those who would like to take part but may feel they would require further support to be involved.

How much time will you give?
This is dependent upon your availability – a typical event may last 2.5 hours, plus 2 hours preparation and travel time. You would be asked to speak for 20-40 minutes about your experiences since leaving University- who you are, what you studied, how you found your first position, how you got to your current position and how your degree has helped you. This would be followed by a Q&A session and networking. We expect some of these events to be formal and some informal. Audience size may differ from small intimate events to larger audiences.
