Volunteering Opportunity
This September the School of Physics and Astronomy is holding a Research Staff Away Day, a one-day event bringing together early-career researchers and physics graduates now working outside academia.

We’re looking for Physics alumni, now working as teachers, to share their career experience with the early-career researchers. We’d like to hear about your journey to becoming a teacher, the qualifications and training you undertook, and your experiences in the classroom and what you enjoy or find challenging about teaching.

As a Physics Speaker you will be asked to give a 20 minute PowerPoint presentation on your teaching career and followed by a Q+A with the audience.

Who will suit this opportunity?
If you meet the following criteria you could be perfect for this opportunity! We are looking for someone who:

- Is currently working as a secondary school teacher
- Has a postgraduate degree in Physics
- Graduated within the last 10 years/started teaching in the last 10 years
- Has been working as a teacher for at least 1 year
- Is looking for opportunities to improve their public speaking skills

When does the volunteering opportunity take place?
Date: Monday 17 September 2018
Time: 2pm – 4.30pm

Recruitment process
Please complete an application form today – a member of the team will then be in touch to discuss the opportunity further.