Volunteering opportunity

*This opportunity invites Midwifery, Nursing and Pharmacy alumni to submit a short video (under 5 minutes) about the freely available resources they use in their professional lives as health care professionals. As students lose access to Library resources after they leave university, these videos are designed to provide guidance on alternative resources to support them in the early stages of their careers. Please note: your contact at the University will provide you with a list of questions and topics to discuss in order to ensure content is relevant to the student audience.

Who will suit this opportunity?
Midwifery, Nursing and Pharmacy alumni who have gone on to careers in these fields and who regularly search for information (evidence-based and/or patient) to support their professional roles and patient care.

Alumni who have experience of attending information skills teaching sessions as undergraduates and have since transferred the skills learned to professional practice will be preferred. Ideally alumni will also have some familiarity of some of the resources below (or suitable alternatives):

- Evidence-based resources: NICE Evidence Services, Cochrane Library, and TRIP
- Patient-focused information resources: NHS Choices, Healthtalk, and Patient

Date & Time: Video submission deadline is Wednesday 26th September (no editing required – simply submit a rough cut – you are welcome to film this on your cameraphone)

How to record your video:
- Alumni can record their video at home, or in their workplace, and submit to us digitally – this does not need to be “professionally-shot” (cameraphone is fine, for example)
- Your contact at the University will provide you with a list of questions to answer during the video
- Preparation and recording time estimated to be maximum one hour

The Role
This role reinforces to final year Midwifery, Nursing and Pharmacy undergraduates the importance of transferring their information searching skills from academic study to professional practice, to ensure they are able to find reliable and authoritative information to support their work.

Type of audience role will benefit
This role will benefit hundreds of final year undergraduates attending information skills sessions.

Recruitment process
Please email Wayne Crawford via wayne.crawford1@nottingham.ac.uk by Wednesday 29th August. We will then be in touch with you to confirm details. Deadline for final video submission – 26th September.
