

A happy whistle sound is playing throughout the duration of this video.

A brown and ginger cat is appears to be unamused by a scrunched up piece of paper in the background. This image is faint as there is a dark blue overlay, so that the following white text can be seen:

[Text over image] From all the staff at the School of Computer Science

The next video clip is of the School Operations Officer writing in her notepad whilst sat in the garden on a sunny day, she is wearing a dark green tshirt. She rips a piece of paper out from her notebook and throws the scrunched up piece of paper to the right side of the screen.

The next video shows an academic member of staff receiving the scrunched up piece of paper from the left of the screen and hits it with a tennis racket towards the right side of the screen. She is wearing sunglasses, a grey top with colourful stripy sleeves, grey leggings and trainers.

Once the paper is out of sight a little girl joins the shot and they dance together in their garden, the girl is wearing a pink top, pink cardigan, light yellow skirt, grey leggings and brown boots.

The next clip is of a member of staff sat at a picnic table with a polka dot mug in his hand. The piece of paper appear from the left side of the screen and lads inside the mug. He looks puzzled, picks the paper out of the mug and flings it over his shoulder towards the right side of the screen. The man is wearing a red and black striped long sleeved top.

The next video is of a very dark brown schnoodle puppy (half mini schnauzer and half mini poodle) lying on the floor in front of the grey sofa. The dog watches as the scrunched up piece of paper rolls across the floor in front of him.

In the next clip, a member of administrative staff is stood in her living room, sees the paper coming in from the left and bats it to the right using her hand. She is wearing a black long sleeved top and blue jeans.

The next clip is set in a garden with purple flowers in the background. An orange and black robot lawnmower appear from the left of the screen pushing the piece of paper. Half way through the clip the robot runs over the paper so it is left in the centre of the screen. The video then pans out so that the paper exits the screen on the right.

The next clip is of the Head of Operations who is sat on a bench in her garden, with two white cats next to her (one on each side). She strokes them as she notices the paper flying in from the left. He then catches it with one hand and then throws the paper to the right, then continues to stroke the cats. She is wearing a white dress with red flowers on it and a white cardigan.

In the next clip an academic member of staff is sat at his desk with his hands on his head. The piece of paper hits him on the side of the head, he then decided to open up the paper to find it has a message written on it that reads "TAKE A BREAK ☺". He shows this message to the screen so it can be read, then scrunched the paper back up and threw it to the right. He is wearing a dark blue jumper with two yellow stripes across each sleeve.

In the next clip an academic member of staff is stood in his hallway with his body turned to the left, he catches the paper ball with both hands, turns his body to face the right and throws it. He is wearing a dark ready top.

Next, an academic member of staff is sat at his desk, he catches the paper coming in from the left with both hand, then smiles as he throws the paper to the right. He is wearing a grey top with blue and red writing on it.

In the next clip, a fluffy white bunny rabbit is sat in its pen on a red rug twitching it's nose, the bunny looks as the paper ball zooms past it.

In this clip, we're out in someone's garden but the video only captures from below the man's knees. He has a golf club in his hands. As the paper lands on the ground in front of him, the man then takes a swing and hits the paper to the right of the string, taking a little bit of grass with it. He is wearing blue jeans and dark grey shoes.

In the next clip, an unamused black and brown cat is sat on the floor in the centre of an office, as the paper is thrown to his he initially doesn't respond, the cat then begins to chase the paper around the room before finally he pushes it behind a bin in the top left corner of the screen.

The next clip is taken from the videogame pac man, against a black background pac man is eating the white blobs that come his way as he does in the video game. Next two him are the four coloured ghost icons in orange, blue, pink and red. As these animations bob along a piece of paper makes its way across the screen from right to left. This is taken as 5 still shots instead of a continuous throw movement.

In the next clip, a member of staff is stood on her elliptical machine in the shed in her garden whilst reading a book. She sees the paper coming from the right and catches t with one hand, then throws it to the left. She is wearing a white tshirt with a blue and red NASA print, black leggings and grey trainers.

A colleague is sat on her kitchen floor with a light down cockapoo facing her. The dog had its front paws in her hands so it appears that the dog is sat up. As the paper lands in the woman's lap the dog gets excited. When she throws the paper to the left of the screen the dog chases the paper. The woman is wearing a burgundy hoodie and black leggings.

In the next clip, the Head of School is sat on a grass bank wearing a black and reg cap, a black and read polo shirt, grey shorts and grey shoes. He catches the paper that has been thrown from the right of the screen with both hands. He then opens up the paper to see there is a message there, he shows the message to the camera which reads "Remember! We're only a call or email away... From the staff in the School of Computer Science" in colourful pens. We then zoom in on this message so that it clearer to read.

Finally the video of the previous clip is faintly showing in the background as a navy blue overlay appears, then white text appears over the top.

[Text over image] Remember! We're only a call or email away... From the staff in the School of Computer Science