

The Candy Girl

A group of 12 writers will collaborate with the Pomegranate Youth Theatre aged 14 to 19 to collect and record stories and experiences of workers of the former Trebor sweet factory in Chesterfield, which closed in 2005. Mentors will work with the writers and young people to develop their interviewing and recording techniques. The researched material will be written up as a piece of theatre to be performed at the Pomegranate Theatre and on the former factory site as part of Chesterfield Community Arts Festival, The Candy Girl was the title given to the winner of Trebor's yearly personality contest.
