

COTTESMORE

THE LIVING VILLAGE

To see how the village has changed over the last 100 years and in particular look at some of the local industries, families and influential people (such as Janet Stuart a local girl who became head of the Sacred Heart worldwide) that have made the village what it is today. To see the influence of the Exton Estate that 'owned' the village

Look at the importance of the first World War and its repercussion down the years. and to follow the families of those involved. To involve local people in the project through their oral history and bring the two local primary schools into the world of discovery.

