

The University of Nottingham
Centre for the Study of Political Ideologies

One-day Workshop
'Conceptual History and Political Ideology'

Friday 3 July 2015

Room B2, The Hemsley, The University of Nottingham

Programme:

Tea and coffee available from 10.15

10.45 Welcome and Introduction

11.00 Panel one Chair: Stuart Jones, University of Manchester

Matthew Adams, University of Victoria, 'Kropotkin beyond Kropotkin: The British Anarchist Tradition in the Age of Read, Comfort and Woodcock'

Sean Irving, University of Manchester, 'Friedrich Hayek: Neoliberal or neo-republican?'

Michael Freeden, The University of Nottingham: 'Appropriating liberalism: The conceptual battle in the UK'

12.30 Lunch

13.30 Panel two Chair: Ben Holland, The University of Nottingham

Stuart Elden, University of Warwick: 'Earth'

Blake Ewing, University of Oxford: 'Conceptual history and the politics of time'

Stefanie Ortmann, University of Sussex: 'Begriffsgeschichte in international relations: Great Power status and derzhavnost'

15.00 Coffee

15.15 Panel three Chair: Maiken Umbach, The University of Nottingham

Carlo Bonura, SOAS: 'Genealogies of Religious Liberalism in Contemporary Islamic Polemics in Southeast Asia'

Manjeet Ramgotra, SOAS: 'Virtue and fortune in republicanism and postcolonialism'

Rahul Rao, SOAS: 'Postcolonialism and Marxism: where is the argument now?'

16.45 Closing remarks

17.00 End