Electrical and Electronic Engineering Undergraduate Scholarships

for 2014 entry

Top class entry scholarships

The Faculty of Engineering is offering a number of prestigious scholarships to students entering the Department of Electrical and Electronic Engineering in 2014.

For UK and EU students

Scholarships of £3,000 will be awarded as a one-off payment in recognition of academic excellence to students starting on an undergraduate honours degree programme (BEng or MEng) within the Department of Electrical and Electronic Engineering in 2014.

The full scholarship will be paid automatically in spring 2015.

You do not need to apply.

Eligibility

Students must:

- attain A level grades of AAA or above (equivalent performance in alternative qualifications such as IB or BTEC will also be considered) or students progressing from the Foundation Year must obtain an average of 80%
- have made The University of Nottingham their first (firm) choice in the UCAS application process
- commence their undergraduate studies in the Faculty of Engineering (UK) in 2014
- be from the UK or EU (not be classed as an international student for tuition fees purposes)
