International undergraduate scholarships

www.nottingham.ac.uk/engineering/funding/undergraduate

If you are an international student starting an undergraduate honours degree programme in engineering, you could be awarded a £1500 fee reduction in your first year of study.

To qualify for the scholarship, you will need to have applied through UCAS and made The University of Nottingham your first (firm) choice in the UCAS application process.

If you receive the award in your first year (2017), you may also be awarded £1,000 in your second, third and fourth years. This is conditional based on you passing the previous year (on first sit exams) with an overall average of 70% or above, and having a satisfactory attendance during the previous year as determined by the head of your department.

The scholarship will be paid automatically, you do not need to apply.

Eligibility

- Only available to students who make the University their first (firm) choice within the UCAS application process for 2017 entry.
- Students progressing from the foundation year in 2017 are eligible for this scholarship. Students deferring their entry to 2018 will be eligible for the 2018 scholarship (terms may be different from those in 2017).
- Students registering on degree programmes offered jointly with schools or departments outside the Faculty of Engineering are not eligible.
- Students progressing from The University of Nottingham China or Malaysia Campuses to commence their studies in the UK are not eligible.
- This scholarship is not available to students applying for the following courses: BArch, DipArch and MEng Architecture and Environmental Design.
- This scholarship is open to all students with overseas fee status, regardless of nationality.
