

University of Nottingham
UK | CHINA | MALAYSIA

Workshop Announcement and Call for Papers

Migration and the Reshaping of Consumption Patterns: Economics and Politics

University of Nottingham, United Kingdom
7th -8th September 2017

Objectives

As part of the ESRC funded project "Migration and the Reshaping of Consumption Patterns (MARCO_P)" the Nottingham Centre for Globalisation and Economic Policy (GEP) will host a workshop on 7th -8th September 2017, to be held at University of Nottingham. The workshop will provide a forum for the dissemination of research relating to the impact of the migration on consumption patterns, the relationships between institutions, population change and consumption behaviour, and the consequences of migration on the transfer of consumption norms, from both theoretical and empirical perspectives. The goal of the conference is to bring together researchers working on the project with outside experts to discuss their recent works. The programme will involve a mix of invited and contributed papers.

Submission

Applicants must submit complete papers by email to Professor Giovanni Facchini: giovanni.facchini@nottingham.ac.uk

Deadline for submission: 30th June 2017
Decisions will be notified by: 10th July 2017

Selection Committee: Giovanni Facchini (University of Nottingham), Corrado Giulietti (University of Southampton), Konstantinos Tatsiramos (University of Nottingham), Jackie Wahba (University of Southampton) and Richard Upward (University of Nottingham).

Keynote speaker: Xin Meng (Australian National University)

Finance

There is no registration fee. University of Nottingham will cover accommodation costs for up to two nights, and a conference dinner will be hosted on 7th September. Limited funds are available to cover travel costs. Please do indicate in your application whether you will need support for travel.