

University of Nottingham
UK | CHINA | MALAYSIA

Call for Papers

GEP-CEPR Summer Trade Workshop

“The Effects of International Trade”

Nottingham, United Kingdom
2-4 June 2022

Submission Deadline: Tuesday 1 March 2022

The Nottingham Centre for Globalization and Economic Policy (GEP) and the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR) are pleased to announce that its annual summer trade workshop will take place at University of Nottingham 2-4 June 2022. The workshop will be in person (pandemic situation permitting), over three days and will focus on the effect of international trade (broadly defined). The program will include only 10 papers, to maximise time for authors to gather feedback from the audience and more generally to allow for interactions among participants.

Scientific Committee:

Facundo Albornoz, Costas Arkolakis, Paola Conconi, Thierry Mayer, Monika Mrazova and Andrés Rodríguez-Clare

Confirmed invited speakers:

Costas Arkolakis – Yale University
Paola Conconi - Université Libre de Bruxelles and CEPR
Thierry Mayer – Sciences Po and CEPR
Monika Mrazova – University of Geneva and CEPR
Stephen Redding - Princeton and CEPR
Giovanni Facchini - University of Nottingham and CEPR

We are looking to add 3-4 more presenters for this workshop. Limited funds for travel and accommodation are available upon request

Please submit your paper to hilary.hughes@nottingham.ac.uk no later than 1 March 2022.