515 INQ Thomas de Mapurley complains of John de Rotyngton. Plea: breach of covenant. That Thomas on Mon after the feast of St Denis [? 13 Oct 1404] covenanted (convenit) with John for a sum of money to build and construct anew on the ground (solum) within Thomas' mansion (mansionis) a chamber beyond the great gates together with the said gates and 4 halls (aulas) with a chamber attached (anexis) to the said gates. Also in the hall of the mansion 3 windows: one great window beyond the entry and a window beyond the passage (ultra tramitem) of the said hall towards the west, and also another window beyond the passage towards the east. Also to enlarge the pantry (ad elargan' panetrium) on the end of the hall; to do and complete all these things pertaining to his craft this side of Easter before the feast of St Denis following. John on Sun before the feast of the purification of the BVM [1 Feb 1405] came to Thomas' house saying he was ready and prepared to raise his timber for the said houses, furthermore saying to Thomas that he should clear the ground lest his work should be delayed for clearing the ground. At the time Thomas hired other carpenters and workmen on certain days to demolish and displace an old house standing on the said ground to Thomas' great cost. John, seeing the said ground was cleared, said to Thomas that he would have his timber carried to the said ground at which time a moiety of the work was not ready. Immediately afterwards on Ash Wed (carniprivi) [4 Mar 1405] following the feast of St Denis [John] without reasonable cause withdrew from his work leaving his work begun and unfinished [and] leaving the close around Thomas' house open by reason of the delay of the said work, and so lying open. The timber raised there because of the delay of the said work is almost totally rotten, consumed and corrupt (totaliter putred' consumptum et corumptum). Also, Thomas' rent of 40s. from the said Easter [19 Apr 1405] to this day was lost and brought to nought (adnullat') in default of the said work. Damages: 40m. John de Rotyngton in his own person comes and defends and says he is not guilty. Inq.

516 INQ The same Thomas complains of the said John. Plea: trespass. That John together with his divers servants working the said timber for Thomas' solar for a certain sum of money to build anew as in the other suit is fully expressed, the said servants, Thomas Wryght and others, hired by John for the said work, by night took and carried off Thomas' timber both new and old and also the planks (tabulas) pertaining to the timber worth 40s. Damages: 100s. He produces suit. John comes in his own person and defends and says he is not guilty. Inq.
