

By the King and Queen, PROCLAMATION

Concerning PAPISTS, and other Disaffected Persons.

MARIE R.

hereas Their Pajesties, as well by the Regular and Impartial Administration of Justice to all Their Subjects, and Their abundant Percy and Grace to such of them as have been liable to Penalties, as also by Profecuting a necessary that against France by Sea and Land (on the Success of which the Common Safety of this Realm, and all other Their Pajesties Kingdoms and Dominious doth Depend) have manifested Their Princely Care and zeal for the Preservation, Ease and Melsare of all Their Aubients; and might justly Expect suitable Returns of Loyalty and Obedience from every of them: Revertheless tivers Papists and reputed Papists, and some other Persons Ill-affected to Their Pajesand Assembled in the Cities of London and Westminster, and other Places, and taken great Boldness by Seand Askendled in the Tinsolent Behaviour to Desame and Assembled in the Insolent Behaviour to Desame and Insolent Behaviour to Desame Insolent Be and Assembled in the Cities of London and Weltminiter, and other Places, and taken great Boldines by Sezand Histour Discourses and Libels, and with Insolent Behaviour to Desame and Assemble Government; And also Consult and Prosecute divers History and Areasonable Designs and Practices tending to the Disturbance of the Publick Peace, and the Destruction of Their Pative Countrey. Their Pajesties resolving not to suffer such Potorious Contempts of the Privy Council) to Issue this Their Royal Proclamation; And do hereby Require and Command all Lords Lieutenants, such their Boyal Proclamation; And do hereby Require and Command all Lords Lieutenants, soever, That they be Circumspect and Higilant in their Respective Charges and Jurisdictons, and Personn their Duties and Inquiry to be made after the said Offenders, and them being Discovered, cause to be Prosecuted, and brought to Constant Annishment according to Law.

And Their Pajesties do hereby strictly Charge and Command all Popish Recusants, Natives or Denizons, being above the Age of Sixteen years, That they do (according to the Statutes in that behalf made) Repair to their respective Places of Abode, and if they have none, then to the places where their respective Father or Wother is or shall be dwelling, and do not thereafter Remode or Pals above five miles from thence. And Their Pajesties do likewise Charge and Command all Papilts, and Persons reputed so to be, (Ercept Perchant Strangers, settled Housholders, and other Persons Ercepted in the Statutes made in this behalf) on 02 befoze the Twenty third day of this instant April, to depart out of the said Cities of London and Westminster, and from all Places Within the distance of Ten miles of the same. And Their Majesties do hereby Command the Lord Mayor of London, and all other Justices of the Peace, and other Officers within the said Cities and Ten miles of the same, that they make Arick Search for, and Proceed against all such of them as shall presume to remain, repair or return within the Limits aforesaid, according to the Statutes in that Case provided; and particularly the Statute made in the First Pear of Their Pajesties Reign, Intituled (An Act for the Amoving Papists and Reputed Papists from the Cities of London and Westminster, and Ten miles distance from the same) by Tendering to them the Declaration therein mentioned, and

And Their Pajesties do likewise Charge and Command the aforesaid, and all other Justices of Peace Whatsoever, who chall Know or be Informed that any Person is, or is suspected to be a Papist, to Tender unto such Person the Declaration 36. Carz. akozesaid, and proceed thereupon according to one other Act made in the said First Pear of Their Pajesties Reign, Entitu= led, (An Act for the better Securing the Government, by Disarming Papists and Reputed Papists.) And for the better Discovery of Persons Disassected to the Government, and that being discovered, their Disloyal and Wicked Purposes and Attempts may be disappointed, Their Pajesties do strictly Charge and Commandall Justices of the Peace, and other Officers in that behalf Authorised, That where they shall find, or be informed of any Person, who by reason of his Conversation, Discourse, or other Demeanour, chall be suspected not to be Well-affected to Their Pajesties Government, they do Tender unto such Person the Daths appointed by an Act made in the First Pear of Their Majesties Reign, Entituled, (An Act for the Abrogating of the Oaths of Supremacy and Allegiance, and appointing other Oaths;) And that in case of Refusal to Take the same, due Prosecution be made thereupon. And for the more effectual Performance thereof, the said Justices of Peace are to make and keep Entries or Records of such their Proceedings, in order to the Tendring the said Daths again to the Person so Re= fusing ; it being Their Pajesties Pleasure, that the said Law be Executed to the utmost against such Offenders. And Their Pajesties do hereby Charge, and particularly Require all Deputy Lieutenants and Justices of the Peace, That they do Mét Monthly to Enquire into and Inform themselves of the Affairs of their respective Counties and Divisions, in relation to the Premisses, and take special care to preserve the Peace, and prevent all Unlawful Petings and Assemblies against Their Pasesties and Their Government, and that from time to time they give Information of their Proceedings and Discoveries, to the Lozds of Their Pajesties most honourable Privy Council.

Given at Our Court at Whitehall the Ninth Day of April, 1691. In the Third Year of Our Reign.

God save King William and Queen Mary.

London, Printed by Charles Bill and Thomas Newcomb, Printers to the King and Queens most Excellent Majesties. 1691.

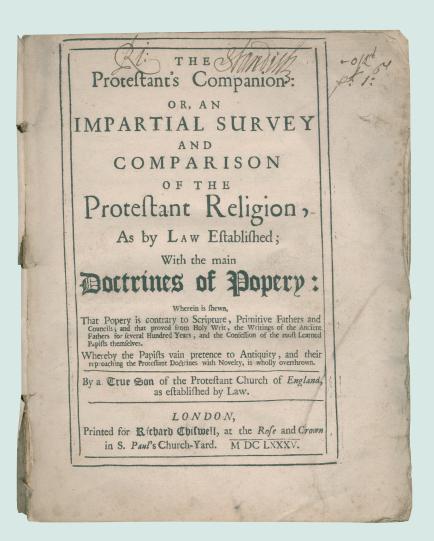

Religion, fear, and resolution

Religious differences have sparked fear and inspired political movements in many countries over the centuries. In England, the reformation introduced by Henry VIII began a long process of change, bringing intellectual debate, dissent and cultural achievement alongside violent plots linked to foreign powers.

By the 1680s, after the bitter experience of the civil war, there was a common perception that a person's religion could predict their loyalty to the country's Protestant interests. Catholics were mistrusted because of their allegiance to the Pope and because of England's enmity with Catholic France and Spain. The arrival of Huguenots, fleeing religious persecution in France, encouraged such fears, which grew as the Catholic convert James II ruled without parliament and appointed Catholics to influential offices.

In April 1688 direct conflict came when James II reissued his Declaration of Indulgence, giving toleration to Catholics and Protestant dissenters. Seven bishops became national heroes when their opposition brought imprisonment in the Tower of London. The birth of James's son in 1688, led to fears of a Catholic succession and prompted an invitation to William of Orange to protect England's Protestant interest.

The peaceful settlement achieved in England in 1688-89, and its parliamentary legacy, stands in contrast to the military conflicts of William and James in Ireland, with their equally enduring traditions of religious and political difference.

The Protestant's Companion: or an impartial survey of the Protestant religion, as by law established; with the main doctrines of popery, (London, 1685) Historical Association Archive HAn/15/6/1.

Left: Proclamation concerning Papists and other disaffected persons, 9 April 1691. A belief that all Catholics might be a threat to the peace is shown in this royal proclamation for Westminster and the City of London, instructing them to return to their homes and ordering officers to watch out for an uprising by Catholics. Mellish Collection Me 2 P 3

Protestant dissenters secured greater freedom through the Toleration Act of 1689. In early 18th century England the political dimension of religious difference was most often seen as varieties of Protestant position. The Tories, who supported the ritual and traditions of the Church of England, were contrasted with the Whigs, who were generally less opposed to Protestant nonconformity. Both William and Mary and Queen Anne struggled to balance the power and aspirations of the political factions and the religious identities they represented.

Image of the seven bishops. From The proceedings and tryal in the case of the Most Reverend Father in God William Lord Archbishop of Canterbury . in the fourth year of the reign of King James the Second, (London, 1716). The continuing relevance of earlier religious debates is seen in this 1716 edition of the 1688 trial. Special Collection DA452.S2

A Sermon preached in Christs Church Dublin, November y 26th 1691 on the Day of Thanksgiving for the Reduction of Greland. By the Lord Bishop of - meath.

Title of a sermon preached in Dublin in thanksgiving for the 'reduction of Ireland', 26 Nov. 1691. Portland Collection Pw V 74.

Subseciptions	For Gull Sing 603
theoring house in was	settoque en arm
Nothington which wat the for	st foundation a
Stone faid the 29th day	of May 1689 -
Robert Ros Brook Egg.	888
ICM HOJOPH House	30
Mr. Mottrall	10
ON. Cotras Wildbors
Mr. Mary Hubbard	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
M. Eninas fillingham
OW. Englor
John Koilingly
Wildow Worson
	· to
John Wildboars	10
Madin Jossop	L. L. G
	· · 2 · · · ·
Madin Spontor	·· 1 Lo ···
Ou scomo

List of people who contributed towards building a Dissenting Meeting House in Castlegate, Nottingham, 29 May 1689. The roots of Castle Gate Church lay in the Presbyterian congregations which met in Nottingham in the 1650s. A meeting house on Castle Gate in Nottingham was registered and built in 1689 when the Act of Toleration allowed for the registration of Protestant congregations. Castle Gate Collection CU/S 1/1