1. Introduction

The following is a very short introductory bibliography listing key reading in the English language on Regulating public procurement: general issues and the UNCITRAL models on procurement, which has been produced by the Asia Inter University Network for Teaching and Research in Public Procurement Regulation. The bibliography is not intended to be comprehensive, but merely introductory. It does not at all with the detail of contract award procedures but only with certain selected general principles and problems. Apart from the section on procurement reform, and some pieces that present very general lessons, it does not include country case-studies of specific problems but only material of a general nature.

Separate bibliographies have also been produced on: i) European Union (EU) Public Procurement Law; and ii) Public procurement regulation within the WTO.

The Network consortium is in the process of producing a more comprehensive bibliography on these and other subjects in public procurement (including the laws of certain individual countries) – comprehensive as regards both topics covered (theoretical and practical) and works included. It is hoped will be published later in 2009 and regularly updated. This will provide extensive case studies of all aspects of public procurement from the experiences of national and regional procurement systems.

The list has been compiled based on materials used for teaching modules on public procurement in some of the partner institutions of the Asia Link project. It should be emphasized that the selection of materials for inclusion is in part influenced by the focus of these particular modules and by the availability of materials at the partner institutions.

The bibliography was last updated in April 2009.

These materials were produced with the financial assistance of the EU. The contents of the materials are the sole responsibility of the University of Nottingham, member of the consortium involved in the EU Asia Inter University Network for Teaching and Research in Public Procurement Regulation and can under no circumstances be regarded as reflecting the position of the European Union. The EU Asia Inter University Network for Teaching and Research in Public Procurement Regulation is led by University of Nottingham (Project leader: Professor Sue Arrowsmith) and the other consortium members are Copenhagen Business School, the Central University of Finance and Economics (Beijing), Xinjiang University, and the University of Malaya.
