

Midlands Viking Symposium 2006

Traders, Raiders, Drinkers and Thinkers

University of Birmingham, Saturday, 29th April

The Universities of Birmingham, Leicester and Nottingham are proud to announce the second Midlands Viking Symposium, an event designed to bring together academics and non-academics interested in Viking Studies in the Midlands. Talks will be given by specialists in Viking Studies who are researching how viking communities interacted within Scandinavia and with native populations in other regions, including the Midlands. This research covers topics such as commerce, travel, mythology, language and material culture such as coins and grave goods.

Speakers

University of Birmingham: Dr Chris Callow, Matt Edwards, Dr Amanda Forster
University of Leicester: Dr Jayne Carroll, Deirdre O'Sullivan
University of Nottingham: Dr Paul Cavill, Dr Christina Lee, Dr Sara Pons-Sanz

For further details please contact:

Dr Chris Callow, Department of Medieval History, University of Birmingham,
Edgbaston, Birmingham B15 2TT

Email c.p.callow@bham.ac.uk

Tel. 0121 414 5934