

Nottingham Interdisciplinary Centre for Economic and Political Research

NICEP Conference 2026, Nottingham (UK), May 11-12, 2026

Call for Papers

We are pleased to announce that the Nottingham Interdisciplinary Centre for Economic and Political Research (NICEP) 2026 conference will be held at the University of Nottingham, UK on May 11-12, 2026.

NICEP promotes interdisciplinary research at the crossroads between Economics and Politics. Theoretical, empirical, and experimental papers related to the following areas are particularly welcome: representation, political behaviour, political economy, historical political economy, institutions, and public finance.

The conference will host plenary sessions with the following confirmed speakers: Paola Giuliano (UCLA Anderson School of Management), Massimo Morelli (Bocconi University), Elias Papaioannou (London Business School), Francesco Trebbi (Berkeley Haas School of Business), and Hans-Joachim Voth (University of Zurich).

The conference will be a medium size event (40-50 participants). For information on previous NICEP conferences, please see here. There will be a registration fee of £165, which will cover dinner and lunches.

Submission Deadline: Monday, February 23rd, 2026 at Midnight

Submit your paper using this form.

Organising committee: Mattia Bertazzini; Valeria Rueda; Émilie Sartre; Daniel Seidmann; Cecilia Testa.

Contact email: valeria.rueda@nottingham.ac.uk; emilie.sartre@nottingham.ac.uk.

Additional Information: Accepted speakers must cover their travel and accommodation expenses. The East Midlands airport is Nottingham's local airport, with direct flights to many European destinations. Birmingham International Airport and Luton Airport are also conveniently located (about 50 minutes from Nottingham). For travel via London, Nottingham has a direct and regular train connection to London St. Pancras International.