Academic Support

Accessibility: Support for students with Specific Learning Differences (dyslexia, dyspraxia, AD(H)D)

nottingham.ac.uk/go/acadsupport
Academic Support
Committed to equality of opportunity for all students
Academic Support work with any applicant or registered student who has, or thinks they may have a Specific Learning Difference (SpLD). This will include dyslexia, dyspraxia, AD(H)D or other SpLDs.

How can Academic Support help you?

■ Specialist study support – nottingham.ac.uk/go/specialist-support
■ Group work and workshops – nottingham.ac.uk/go/group-workshops
■ Recommended teaching support, provided by your school – nottingham.ac.uk/go/your-support
■ Study resources – nottingham.ac.uk/go/studyresources
■ Studying effectively – nottingham.ac.uk/studyingeffectively
■ Development of a Support Plan with recommendations for reasonable adjustments, including to examinations and assessments
■ Applying for Disabled Students’ Allowances

When can you contact Academic Support?
You can get in touch with us if you are:

■ an applicant – nottingham.ac.uk/go/applicant-support
■ a registered student – nottingham.ac.uk/go/acadsupport
■ unsure if you have a SpLD – nottingham.ac.uk/go/screening-assessment

Where can you find us?
If you need to meet in person, we offer appointments at all University campuses, as well as Queens Medical Centre and Royal Derby Hospital. We also offer advice by phone, email and Skype.

Confidentiality and the evidence you need to provide to us
For more information, please see nottingham.ac.uk/go/accessibility-evidence

Contact us
+44 (0)115 846 6115
dyslexia-support@nottingham.ac.uk
nottingham.ac.uk/go/acadsupport