How do I deal with writer's block?! - Doing writing differently

A. talking it through
Talking your ideas out loud can often help - whether by yourself or in conversation with others.

1. record yourself
Why not record yourself talking through your ideas? You can then listen back to this and type up the key points.

B. loose paper
It is much easier to move loose sheets of paper around, or to cut them up and stick them into a better order.
